DETAILED ACTION

1. The Examiner has carefully considered Applicants' amendments and remarks filed on 3/23/2004. Applicants' amendments to claims 38 and 86 have all been entered.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Rejections not maintained are withdrawn.

Response to Amendment

4. Claims 1-18, 38-55, 75, 80, 81 and 86-102 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilbur (US 2338749) in view of the admitted prior art, substantially for the reasons set forth in section 5 of Paper No. 112103, together with the following additional observations.

It is noted that independent claims 38 and 86 have each been amended to recite, inter alia, "said active side further comprising an adhesive disposed continuously thereon".

Regarding the pin pictures in one of the embodiments in Wilbur's Figs. 7 and 8, Applicants' argument that "The intended purpose of providing pin punctures is to provide outstanding burrs that serve as a means for normally shielding the adhesive against accidental contact with other objects ... providing a substrate with a plurality of pin punctures renders the substrate porous" (Remarks, page 8, point 5) has been carefully considered, but is not persuasive. The Examiner notes that Applicants apparently have acknowledged that Wilbur's invention teaches that burrs are provided as a means to shield the adhesive from being contacted. As such, since Wilbur also clearly teaches in Figs. 1-6 that nonporous ribs or elevations can be used for shielding the adhesives (column 2, lines 18-20), upon considering Wilbur's teaching as a whole, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use alternative shielding means to modify the embodiment shown in Figs. 7 and 8, such as a plurality of suitable non-porous elevations of Figs 1-6, because clearly that a means of providing shielding is the point of novelty, not the means being punctured or not, motivated by the desire to provide a wrapper material which also adheres to an article for an improved wrapping. It should be noted that substituting a known equivalent material based on its suitability for its intended use supported a prima facie obviousness determination. See MPEP § 2144.07. Additionally, the Examiner notes that while Wilbur teaches the ribs or elevations are connected in Figs. 1-6, it is noted that the purpose of being connected is to minimize objectionable curling (column 2m lines 10-11), it must be noted that Wilbur's teaching as a whole teaches instantly claimed invention either implicitly, or renders the instant invention obvious, and the fact that it discloses additional structure not claimed is irrelevant.
